All we know of Karl Mikkelsen is that he was a master house painter in Bergen, and that he was an amateur artist in his spare time. This work is interesting because it accurately details a part of Bergen at the turn of the 20th century; we can see both Lille and Store Lungegårdsvann, the lakes that are still at the heart of Bergen. It is probably painted from the hillside above the cathedral.

Une toile assez naïve mais intéressante d'une partie de Bergen, extrêmement détaillée. Probablement un amateur artiste peintre.

Interessantes Zeitdokument aus Bergen, mit den Seen Lille und Store Lungegaardsvann und der detaillierten Stadtbebauung.
